ARGUMENT IN OPPOSITION TO GUGGENHEIMER MERGER.

FORMER OWNER OF UTAH COPPER COMPANY SEEKING AN INJUNCTION TO RESTRAIN CONSOLIDATION OF COMPANIES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—In the United States Circuit Court at Trenton, the first of the two proceedings started by C. E. Hall to prevent the proposed merger of the Anaconda and the Phelps Dodge, and in addition to prevent the merger of citizens in the service of the two fast interests of the rockhounds of the West, was held yesterday.

Mr. Hall, in his argument, said that the Anaconda in years past has never been so successful as it is now, and that the other copper companies in the West, particularly the Phelps Dodge, have been steadily declining. After a short time of discussion, Mr. Justice Frank M. Johnson, Jr., adjourned the case until Friday.

The Anaconda's attorney, however, argued that the merger would be to the benefit of all the shareholders, and that the stockholders of the Anaconda and the Phelps Dodge, and of the two smaller companies, will be harmed by the merger. Frank E. Hall, who was blinded by the death of his son, James, thought that the Anaconda's plan to merge with the Phelps Dodge, and that the plan of the two companies to merge with the two smaller companies, will be to the benefit of all the shareholders.

Mr. Hall, in his argument, said that the Anaconda's plan to merge with the Phelps Dodge, and that the plan of the two smaller companies, will be to the benefit of all the shareholders.

MISSOURI OPERATORS

ABOUT TO UNITE, NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—In order to be in a position to meet the new situation in Missouri, the Missouri Telephone Company has engaged in wage and other matters with state and district managers of the telephone companies in the state to increase its own representation. It is found that the organizations will meet in St. Louis on Feb. 1.

The telephone will then call all the telephones up to date, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, with the view to new work together in those states, but also the possibility of increasing its representation in Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, and Oklahoma.

IT'S ALL FOR "LUNGERS," NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Philadelphia has been selected as the place where it is proposed to benefit largely from the efforts of the Lung Association, which has been organized by the medical and public health officials of the city and its suburbs.

It is the desire of the Lung Association to have the city of Philadelphia, and its suburbs, to be the center of the new organization.

CANADA ARRANGING FOR BIG CONVENTION.

GATINEAU, Que., Jan. 24.—Members of the Canadian Conservative party have agreed to hold a conference in Ottawa on Feb. 15-16, to discuss the proposed general convention of the Conservative party to make general arrangements for the election of delegates to the national convention of the party.

The conference will be held in the Hotel Royal York, Toronto, Ontario.

ED WITH WRECKING A
WISCONSIN NATIONAL BANK.

OF ALFRED SPENSLEY TO GALLED AT SUPERIOR THIS WEEK.

SUPERIOR, Wis., Jan. 24.—The trial of the Federal court which comes here tomorrow, will be made by the trial of Alfred Spensley, agent of the defunct First National Bank at Mineral Point. Though indicted early in October it was not until last month that the president of the institution was arrested, charge of violating the national bank laws. Since his arrest he has been at liberty on $20,000 bail.

A bank failure that has occurred Wisconsin in years has been followed by such an appalling string of events as has followed the closing of the bank at Mineral Point, which regarded as one of the strongest financial institutions in the state. Failure of the bank was directly due to the peculations of Phil Allen, the vice president, who looted the bank to the tune of $200,000. Allen was tried and sentenced to the penitentiary at Leavenworth. Following his conviction came the arrest of his wife, her sister and brother-in-law, in charge of concealing property belonging to Allen in an effort to protect his creditors.

ARGUMENT IN OPPOSITION TO GUGGENHEIMER MERGER.

FORMER OWNER OF UTAH COPPER COMPANY SEEKING AN INJUNCTION TO RESTRAIN CONSOLIDATION OF COMPANIES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—In the United States Circuit Court at Trenton today, argument was heard in the injunction proceedings started by Colonel E. A. Hall to prevent the proposed merger of the Utah Copper Company and in seeking to prevent the merger he claims to be acting for the best interests of the stockholders of the company.

If the Court grants Col. Wall a permanent injunction it will prevent the special meeting called for tomorrow for the purpose of increasing the stock of the Utah company from 75,000 shares to 2,500,000 shares, which it is proposed to exchange for the shares of the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company on the basis of one share of the former for one share of the latter. In his application for an injunction Col. Wall argues that the proposed combination is in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and that the basis of the consolidation is unfair to the Utah stockholders, as the Utah property, it is alleged, is worth much more than indicated by the exchange basis proposed.

CELEBRATION OF GOLDEN JUBILEE OF PAULIST FATHERS.

JUST FIFTY YEARS SINCE FATHER GEORGE HECKER STARTED MISSIONS IN NEW YORK CITY.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Many distinguished prelates and priests of the Roman Catholic church are in New York to take part in the celebration of the golden jubilee of the Paulist Community of the city. It was just a half century ago that Father George Hecker, founder of the Paulist Fathers in New York, started the mission of St. Paul the Apostle, now one of the largest parishes in this city. Father Hecker was a missionary priest whose life was spent in traveling about explaining Catholic doctrines and trying to make converts to that faith.

The jubilee celebration is being held in the Church of St. Paul the Apostle in Columbus avenue, and will continue two days. Tomorrow morning Cardinal Gibbons will preach the sermon and Archbishop Farley will celebrate mass. A number of other prominent prelates will also take part.

LIBERALS CLAIM BIG GAINS IN PARLIAMENT.

MAJORITY OVER CONSERVATIVES ESTIMATED AT BETWEEN FIFTEEN AND THIRTY.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—Reports on early voting in twenty-eight constituencies holding election today were so pro-liberal that it is believed the Conservative gain is checked.

Liberals claim that the Liberal-Labour majority over the Conservative Nationalists will run from seventeen to thirty, in the House of Commons.

CANADA ARRANGING FOR BIG CONVENTION.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 24.—Members of the committee recently appointed by R. L. Borden, including representatives of the Conservative party in each of the Provinces, met in conference here today to decide upon time and place for the proposed general convention of the Conservative party, and to make general arrangements for the gathering. The sentiment of the party leaders appears to favor a date in July for the convention, which will probably be held either in Winnipeg or Ottawa.

"If you don't trade with us we both lose money."

MRS. C. W. MORSE WORKING HARD FOR HER HUSBAND'S RELEASE.

Throughout the troubles of Charles W. Morse, the ex-banker who began the serving of a fifteen year term in the federal penitentiary in Atlanta for violations of the national banking laws, his wife has proved her devotion to him by unremitting hard work. She has now taken upon herself the burden of carrying on his large business interests and, in addition, is preparing and circulating petitions asking the president to pardon her husband. Mrs. Morse has opened offices in a downtown New York building and, with the aid of the former confidential secretary and stenographer of her husband, is busily engaged in keeping his affairs from becoming entangled during his enforced absence. Mrs. Morse is considered a woman of much financial ability. She was formerly the wife of Charles F. Dodge, from whom she obtained a divorce. This picture of Mrs. Morse was made from a photograph taken in her office. It is one of the first photographs given out by Mrs. Morse in many years.

INTERNAL WATERWAYS COMMISSION REPORT TO CONGRESS.

ADVOCATES CAREFUL CONSERVATION OF NATURAL WATERWAYS RATHER THAN CONSTRUCTION OF CANALS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The report of the Internal Waterways Commission made to Congress today advocates legislation controlling railroad rates rather than heavy expenditures for waterway improvements, which might induce railroads to lower rates on account of competition.

The report advocates the careful conservation of natural waterways rather than the construction of costly canals.

SIX-DAY BICYCLE RACE IN NEWARK, NEW JERSEY

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 24.—Newark's six-day bicycle race had an auspicious start today in the First Regiment Armory. The riders will race 10 hours a day, from 1 to 11 p. m. Included among the contestants are Kramer and Finn, Root and Folger and several of the other well known teams which competed in the last race in Madison Square Garden.

MRS. TILLMAN WANTS HER TWO CHILDREN.

HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS COMMENCED AGAINST SENATOR TILLMAN FOR CUSTODY OF CHILDREN.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Jan. 24.—Habeas corpus proceedings were instituted here today by Lucy Tillman, wife of R. B. Tillman, Jr., against her husband's father, Senator Tillman, for the recovery of her two children. The petition contains startling allegations.

Mrs. Tillman alleges that her husband has cruelly treated her on several occasions. That he has taken the whiskey cure three times and squandered much of her estate.

WASHINGTON AUTO SHOW OPENED THIS MORNING.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Convention Hall was thronged today at the opening of Washington's first national automobile show. The exhibition embraces a varied and interesting display of the latest models of automobiles, motorcycles and automobile accessories. There is also a department devoted to aeronautics, consisting of models and drawings illustrating the recent progress in aeronautics.

ONE DOLLAR AND EIGHTY CENTS SOLD MANY ORDERS.

R. S. MALEY IS ANOTHER BUSINESS MAN THAT HAS FOUND THE DAILY NEWS A PROFITABLE ADVERTISING MEDIUM.

The Daily News is always interested to know that advertisements bring profitable results to its patrons.

Last week R. S. Maley run several readers advertising seed potatoes, fertilizers and dry batteries.

Mr. Maley says he's been selling more batteries recently than for any period of time in the past. He became interested to know the reason and asked several customers why they had not been buying more batteries in the past. "We did not know you had them until we read you in the Daily News," was the inevitable reply.

A Kingston man walked to Mr. Maley's store. "I see you are advertising seed potatoes in the Daily News," he said. The customer bought $56 worth, and then added "I have already purchased my fertilizer but would gladly have bought from you but did not know you handled it until I saw your ad."

Mr. Maley is a man that has never been what might be called a staunch advertiser and the Daily News is more than pleased at his conversion. In addition to relating the details of the above transactions Mr. Maley stated that he had sold a number of orders of potatoes and fertilizers as direct results of his "locals" in the Daily News.

MEAT FIGHT CONTINUES IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Following District Attorney Whitman's announcement that he would order the grand jury to investigate the local meat trust conditions, petitions are being circulated here today pledging abstinence from meat and other high-priced foods. The anti-cold storage flight will be one feature of the grand jury investigation.

CONVENTION OF THE UNEMPLOYED.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Delegates are arriving in Chicago for the convention of the unemployed, which is to be held here this week under the direction of J. Eads How, the St. Louis sociologist. The purpose of the convention, as announced in the call issued by Mr. How, is to "lay the foundation of industrial freedom" and discuss plans to relieve the thousands of casual laborers who are out of work in all the large cities of the country.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF STOCK GROWERS.

CONVENTION OF SOUTH DAKOTA STOCK BREEDERS IN SESSION.

BROOKINGS, S. D., Jan. 24.—Many stock growers, buyers and commission men have gathered here for the seventh annual convention and sale days today, under the auspices of the South Dakota Improved Live Stock and Poultry Breeders' association. The convention opens in the opera house tonight and will continue over tomorrow. The sale of horses, sheep and swine will begin in the stock pavilion Wednesday and will be followed on Thursday by the cattle sale.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 24.—Three thousand union men have joined the meat boycott movement, which is gaining along the entire Pacific Coast.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND ARE HOMELESS IN FRANCE.

AWFUL FLOODS STILL INCREASING — PARIS IN DANGER OF A WATER FAMINE.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—Warm weather and increasing rain today is increasing the rise in the Seine.

Six millions is the estimated damage already.

The entire city is in danger of a water famine. The mains are broken in five districts and broken sewers have contaminated the water supply.

The suburb of Troy with 20,000 inhabitants, is all under water. The basement of Louvre, the world's greatest art palace, is filled and the dampness is causing irreparable damage to the statues and paintings.

The government fears a typhoid epidemic from the broken sewers.

One hundred thousand persons are homeless through southern and eastern France.

The famous Alma bridge is closed and subways are partially closed, and a total suspension is feared soon.

The street fronting the Chamber of Deputies collapsed today.

ALABAMA DEMOCRATS DISCUSSING PRIMARY.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 24.—Primary election matters were discussed at a meeting here today of the Democratic State Executive Committee.

S. W. O'BRIEN

By L. C. DEMAREE.

One of Daytona's crowning glories is her incomparable beach. No one who ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sand; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a prancing pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and surf-packed sand but realized that it is a world-beater, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls flit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River. Where think you is water with more pictu-quesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom, gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; watch that lubberly old white headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, their hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments both solid and liquid ready for a cruise upon the beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond's bride to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridge wood.

Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide-spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with elfish draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artist's brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms; see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamous forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and, as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another, so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering, "What next?"

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a fact must be apparent to the most

PROGRESSIVE NEW SMYRNA

NEW SMYRNA is situated fifteen miles south of Daytona and is an ideal spot reached from Daytona by a hard surface road winding through one of the most picturesque parts of Florida.

With its ancient ruins dating back to a time when the history of man ran not, interlaced with wires of the modern telegraph and telephone, its miles of shell streets as hard and smooth as a floor and over-arched by holly forest giants that grew in stately grandeur during the lapse of by-gone centuries, New Smyrna is truly a place of romance and rest.

All nature here is very inviting to the tourist and pleasure-seeker. Here too is to be found the best fishing and hunting in the State of Florida.

The people are thrifty, the business men enterprising, and all unite in extending the welcome hand of hospitality to strangers. There are five church edifices for white people and an equal number for the colored population; the town has an excellent high school, a splendid public library, and up-to-date business houses.

There are any number of pretty homes for the permanent population, which numbers close to 2,000, and some very fine winter residences. There are good hotels and boarding houses where you can find accommodations to meet your requirements.

Adjoining New Smyrna is as fine a section of vegetable land as can be found anywhere. This land has been divided into small farms which can be bought at reasonable prices. Some of the finest celery grown in the State is raised on this land. All other vegetables grow in abundance, and here, too, is the home of the famous Indian River oranges.

New Smyrna has no bonded indebtedness and the tax levy is low.

A point that no tourist should fail to visit is the ruins of the Old Spanish Mission which stand somber and alone about one and a quarter miles southwest of New Smyrna. A good road leads to the place and the trip can be easily made by an automobile. Silent, in the great pine flats by the margin of the forest, is this place of pilgrimage for the pious; this rendezvous for the picnicker. The ruins are extensive, and while there is no authentic history of their origin, it is presumed that the Mission was built by the Franciscans in the days when the once powerful Kingdom of Spain first planted its flag upon what is now American soil. It was built of coquina, the reef being of the same material, cut into thin slabs and covered with cement plaster. Extensive gardens surrounded it, which were enclosed by a stone wall, portions of which still remain. Visitors usually come in parties merry and curious but the spell of the place soon falls upon them and they separate to sit alone, silent and meditative, under the arches or beside the ancient well.

CORONADO is situated on the peninsula opposite New Smyrna and is connected by a good road and bridge over the deep current of Indian River. Here you can put aside your conventional gait, breathe in large and deep the salty tonic of the sea and enjoy yourself to your heart's content with rod and reel in row or sail boat or in the ocean surf a short half-mile away. The great varieties of fish inhabiting the river and lagoon pass through the channel from the sea beneath the bridge. From verandas, upper balconies and windows you behold the magnificent river, the distant lagoons and islands, the forest-covered peninsula and the vast reaches of the Atlantic Ocean.

HAWKS PARK is a pretty village located along the ridge above the Indian River two and one-half miles south of New Smyrna and connected with fine shell roads. There is the appearance of seclusion and quiet about the place which stamps it as the abode of people who come here to enjoy the blessings of outdoor life away from places where crowds are apt to gather.

ORMOND is five miles north of Daytona, located on the western bank of the Halifax River. The location of the town permits of good drainage and perfect sanitation; the elevation is superb and ideal for winter homes. A wide bridge connects Ormond with Ormond Beach.

Many fine residences are maintained on either side of the river, most of them embellished with subtropical flora and shrubbery, besides thrifty orange, and other citrus fruit trees.

The town is very cosmopolitan, with an excellent graded school, several churches, a fine public library, up-to-date places of business and comfortable and convenient hotels and boarding houses.

Ormond has many of the Florida attractions—fine fruit, good fishing, excellent automobiling, safe boating, salubrious climate and pleasant walks and drives.

At Ormond Beach is located the large Hotel Ormond, and its lesser sister, Bretton Inn. The former occupies a position overlooking the Halifax River, while the latter has as its outlook the magnificent beach and the broad Atlantic.

The walks in all directions are particularly attractive, and the arbors, shady and inviting spots and romantic nooks are crowded with rustic seats which are mute invitations to enter into the enjoyment thereof.

Besides the broad, smooth ocean beach there are many drives for car or automobile—long drives and short drives; drives through groves of golden oranges; drives through dense tropical forests to Spanish ruins; drives to the ancient Causeway built by the slaves of planters of long ago, and drives to the plantations of hospitable settlers, whose places are replete with the interest of Southern fruits and flowers.

One of these interesting plantations is Number Nine, located on the peninsula, five miles north of the Hotel Ormond. Here you see a fine orange grove, together with great varieties of other subtropical fruits and flowers.

Five miles further on you come to Moundgrove, one of the finest orange groves in this section of Florida. Moundgrove is on the headwaters of the Halifax River and is amid pretty surroundings. The place is reached by a good road (passing Number Nine) and is a drive all tourists may enjoy.

PICTURESQUE PORT ORANGE

PORT ORANGE is a pretty little village situated five miles south of Daytona on the Daytona-New Smyrna hard-surface road, the scenic highway of the East Coast. The town is located on the Halifax River, over which spans a bridge from the town to the peninsula opposite.

The town is well laid out and has many pretty homes owned and occupied by residents and winter tourists. It has several churches, one of the best graded schools in Volusia county, two general stores, a real estate agency and two or three hotels.

A large number of tourists and winter residents make Port Orange winter headquarters, one of the several attractions being the excellent fishing. Port Orange is in the orange belt and a number of very fine citrus groves are nearby, where oranges, tangerines and grape-fruit hang in profusion. Some of the best trucking land in the State is to be found thereabout and excellent crops are raised.

West of Port Orange a short distance are the remains of the old Dunlawton sugar mill, a spot that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. At one time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast sugar-cane and indigo plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those days but has been in disuse for thirty or forty years.

A pretty automobile or carriage drive from Daytona is via the ocean beach to the approach of the Port Orange bridge, across the bridge and then passing through Port Orange to the ruins of the celebrated old sugar mill, returning to Daytona by the road on the mainland. This drive affords a very pleasing variety of scenery.

DELAND, THE ATHENS OF FLORIDA

DELAND, the county seat of Volusia County, is situated 23 miles southwest of Daytona and is reached from the latter city by an excellent hard-surface road recently constructed.

At DeLand is located the John B. Stetson University, one of the leading educational institutions of the South. Because of the interest in matters educational DeLand is known as "The Athens of Florida."

Stetson University has a faculty of 50 professors and instructors. There are over $400,000 in buildings and equipment; nearly $300,000 endowment; a Carnegie Library alone representing an investment in building, endowment and books, of more than $120,000. The library is the United States Government depository for the State of Florida, and contains over 15,000 volumes. Science Hall, one of the newest of 16 buildings, with its furnishings, represents an outlay of $60,000. Elizabeth Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the South.

The city has a population of about 3,500, with a thickly settled country adjacent. DeLand proper is five miles east of the St. Johns River, on the high, rolling pine land of the great "Orange Ridge" of Florida. The predominating products are oranges and grapefruit, the estimated crop from this vicinity being over 300,000 boxes this year. Grapes, peaches, pears, Japan persimmons, plums, pecans, guavas, strawberries and other fruits are grown in plenty.

In the way of public improvements are many miles of fine shell roads, an excellent high school, electric lights, a system of waterworks that is owned and operated by the city, supplying the purest water at little cost. Nine houses of worship testify that DeLand is a church-going community. Baptists, Episcopalians, Methodists (Northern and Southern), Presbyterians, Christians and Catholics, besides colored Baptists and Methodists, are represented.

The graded school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to DeLand is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to DeLeon Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute. From DeLand automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Rev. H. H. Mallinson's theme Sunday at the eleven o'clock service, "Christ Only," was eloquently discussed to a congregation which taxed the seating capacity of the church. He was assisted in the services by District Superintendent H. G. Porter. Mrs. H. G. Fletcher was at the organ. A solo by Mrs. Chowning was rendered in her usually impressive, clear tones. Prof. Hardy, who expected to have the organ in charge, was detained at home by sickness.

At the First Congregational Church the usual large congregation, which included many visitors, greeted the pastor, Dr. B. F. Marsh. The beautiful organ prelude and interlude by Miss Willaume, the anthems by the well organized choir, and solo by Miss Klebs, was much enjoyed as were the eloquent discourse.

Regular services at the First Baptist church. Rev. A. L. Abercrombie preached to a good congregation.

Dr. Huntington, of Ormond, delivered the sermon at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. It was missionary day.

Prof. E. B. Wakefield made a strong argument against Calvinism at the Christian Church Sunday evening. There was good congregational singing.

Mrs. Shouse was First Reader at Christian Science hall. Mrs. Jakes, of New York, was soloist. A good attendance was present.

WHY NOT CELEBRATE

OHIO DAY THIS WINTER

Citizens of various other states have in past seasons held reunion days and it has recently been suggested by several persons from Ohio that the people from the great Buckeye State join together for a similar celebration this winter. There are probably more residents of Daytona from the State of Ohio than from any other state in the Union, the city having been founded by parties from Ohio, with a consequent drawing of many of the earlier settlers from that State.

It is necessary that one or more persons, with time to devote to it, take the initiative in this matter, which should prove a popular movement where there are so many to be interested. What say you Buckeyes?

LOITERER II WAS HERE TO RECEIVE ST. LOUIS PARTY

C. F. Sparks, of Alton, Ill., who owns a winter home on Jupiter Island, Hobe Sound, came up to Daytona last Friday with his cruising yacht, Loiterer II, to meet a party of friends from St. Louis, who were to cruise with him for several weeks among the Florida Keys. The Loiterer II, which tied up at the Halifax River Yacht Club dock during her stay here, departed Sunday on her return to Hobe Sound with the party.

Heart to Heart Talks.

WATCHING HOLES.

Some men were at work repairing a broken conduit under the street pavement.

They dug a good sized hole, and while two of them were at work below another directed the work from above.

There was a pile of dirt about the hole sufficient as a barrier to keep away the teams. And on top of the dirt, sometimes two or three ranks deep, stood a ring of men watching the work.

Hour after hour some of the men stood with hands in pockets and coat collars turned up intent upon their observation. They had no personal interest and with apparently plenty of time were simply—

Watching the hole in the ground. Which is characteristic of some people in the world.

There are men who will explain to you by the hour, if you will let them, just how the federal or state or city government should be run. They will argue questions of finance or tariff or rate regulation as if their lives depended upon the solution of these questions—

Watching a hole in the ground. There are young men who know nothing and care for nothing but sports. They will take up a daily paper and without a glance at the headlines on the first page read what they want and throw the paper away. It matters nothing to them that the paper is filled with news of world importance. They are—

Watching a hole in the ground. There are women who will go from place to place to retail the gossip of the neighborhood, and if there be scandal they are its early disseminators. They also are—

Watching a hole in the ground. There are young persons who do nothing but dream things all day long. True, the world must have its dreamers, but they must be of the sort that go out to make their dreams come true. But these dreamers neglect the work before them that they may build castles in Spain and—

Watching a hole in the ground. It is marvelous how much misdirected energy and time and longing human beings waste in watching holes in the ground.

Intelligent knowledge of government and of affairs, of news of the neighborhood and of sports, visions of better things, all these are necessary and right in their place, but if you spend too much time and thought on these to the neglect of your daily task you will be like all those who simply—

Watch a hole in the ground.

The "Sillinger" Stakes.

It only takes a few hours to get from any part of England to Doncaster, see the race for the St. Leger and return home. Yet in the coaching times journey from London to Doncaster occupied a couple of days.

Taking its name from a famous Doncaster sportsman, Colonel St. Leger—properly pronounced “Sillinger”—the race is the second oldest horse racing event in the country. It was founded in 1770 and always arouses the greatest enthusiasm in the north of England. In fact, in the prerailway days laborers living fifty miles away would save up their shillings for weeks, walk to Doncaster, see the race, have a bet and walk home again.

John Scott, who in his day was visited by peers, lawyers, poets and authors of all degrees, trained sixteen St. Leger winners. There have been many memorable finishes to the race, and on one occasion a horse named Theodore, against whom the odds were quoted at 1,000 to a walking stick—officially 1,000 to 5—won handsomely.

The largest field was thirty, in 1825, and the smallest four, in 1783 and 1785. A horse named Ninety-three won in 1793.—London Saturday Review.

Armed With a Saber Hilt.

When William L. Royall of Fauquier county, Va., was seventeen years old he became a Confederate soldier. In his “Reminiscences” he says that the feats performed by the Confederate cavalry in the early part of the war were remarkable, because not one company in ten had any arms that were fit to fight with.

“When I joined my company,” he writes, “they gave me a saber which I think, was used in the Revolution, and this was the only weapon I had. One day, while my regiment was standing in a road, I bantered a comrade to see which of us could cut the largest twig from a tree. I made a powerful cut, and the blade of my saber broke off at the hilt.

“In a short time we were dismounted and ordered to clear the Yankees out of a piece of woods in skirmish formation. We marched through the woods, but fortunately no Yankees were there. I have often wondered what I should have done, armed with that saber hilt, if I had met a Yankee armed with a Springfield musket.”

Nobles In Mean Attire.

Where did etiquette require nobles to appear before their sovereigns meanly clad? This singular custom characterized court ceremonial in ancient Mexico under the Aztec dominion. When the native lords and grandes had occasion to seek the presence of Montezuma they were under the obligation, as Toribio de Benavente, who accompanied the Conquistador Cortes, testifies, of assuming a voluminous mantle of poor material (una manta gruesa y pobre), with which they covered and concealed their ordinary robes, in token of subjection and humiliation. These were manufactured out of the leaves of the aloe tree by the commoner classes. Etiquette required the strict observance of this custom by all those who came into the emperor’s presence, with the exception of persons of the royal blood. Any one seeking audience of the emperor had to don these common clothes on his arrival at the palace. Barefooted and wretchedly clad, he was led before the sovereign and with downcast eyes made his request, with every outward sign of abject subservience.

An Ingenious Interview.

An officer once asked Frederick the Great for an interview, which was granted on condition that he only said two words. He presented a petition. “Sire,” he said, “sign!” Frederick, highly amused, surrendered.

GIFFORD PINCHOT, FOE OF BALLINGER

The removal of Gifford Pinchot as chief of the United States forestry bureau by President Taft started a controversy which threatens to continue during the remainder of the presidential term. The Ballinger-Pinchot fight was thought by many politicians at Washington to have reached its climax when Secretary Ballinger demanded an investigation at the hands of the president, but Mr. Pinchot's letter to Senator Dolliver revived the trouble, and his general quickly followed. The forthcoming investigation promises to be full of sensations and may open up afresh all the charges pro and con that have stirred the land department during the past year.

FREEDOM AFLAFT.

By M. QUAD.
[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

The strong minded Mrs. Graham and four other strong minded sisters in the faith had chartered the houseboat Freedom for a cruise of a month on the bay and were ready to start. Not a man was to be allowed on board; not even a boy was to be allowed to fish near the craft. It was to be independence of the male sex pure and simple. The five husbands of the five strong minded women had raised no objections. They had simply smiled and winked at each other.

The tug left the houseboat at anchor forty rods from a wooded shore. The women bossed the job, and the tug captain obeyed instructions. The anchor was hardly down when five voices began chanting their relief at having arrived where man was not. They had escaped him. They could stand on the burning deck and defy him--no more thralldom and oceans of liberty for a month.

This state of relief and hilarity and general good feeling continued for fifty minutes by the clock in the cabin. Then Mrs. Perkins discovered a cockroach. It was not a monster of malignant mien, but still it was a cockroach. Its discovery ought to have been the merest trifle compared to the emancipation of woman after 6,000 years of servitude, but the didgety Mrs. Perkins clean forgot to look at it in that way. In fact, she said that she wouldn't have come if she had known that a cockroach was coming too.

It was just ten minutes later when Mrs. Smith discovered flies and bugs--flies and bugs coming in clouds from the shore and that the insects had teeth or stingers. Then Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Davis asked for fishlines and learned that no one had thought to provide them. The talk was blending into acrimony when Mrs. Graham called a meeting of the society and presented the following preamble and resolution:

Whereas, Woman has at last emerged from a state of servitude lasting since the days of Adam and Eve; and,

Whereas, She has now become the superior of man and no longer needs his assistance in any direction; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the sense of this meeting is that we proceed to show the world at large, but particularly the male sex, that we are equal to any emergency.

The resolution was adopted without a dissenting vote, and for an hour a holy calm reigned. Then, in storing away the groceries, it was discovered that neither salt nor baking powder had been brought along. Mrs. Perkins and Mrs. Smith had quite a few plain words over it, and when Mrs. Graham threatened to call another meeting of the society they were silenced.

On the second day several more things happened. It was discovered that the craft leaked and no one knew how to work the pump. Under the brisk wind she dragged her anchor and grounded on a mud flat. Five hundred more cockroaches appeared to see what what it was all about. The tide brought in a big log, which insisted on bumping the houseboat at the rate of five bumps minute, and the fore-hand skeeters didn't wait for the going down of the sun. The five women staggered through the day, and as they arose from a poorly cooked dinner Mrs. Smith, with a look of rebellion on her face, ventured to make the general inquiry:

"Has woman actually been emancipated from the thralldom of man, or does she still depend on him just a little bit?"

"Mrs. Smith, I shall call a meeting of the society in just five minutes," exclaimed Mrs. Graham in reply.

"But let us look facts in the face," suggested Mrs. Davis.

"We are on a mud flat," replied Mrs. Brown.

"And who can get us off but men?" solemnly asked Mrs. Perkins.

"And who can pump out the water?"

"And get us home?"

"Man! Man! Man! Man!"

"Ladies," said Mrs. Gleason, "are you ready, after fighting for 6,000 years for your rights and winning them at last, to surrender to your arch enemy because of an emergency--two or three simple emergencies?"

"We are!"

"Then you are cowards and deserve the heel of the tyrant on your necks! Good Lord, what's that?"

Two things had happened. The waterlogged houseboat had given a lurch and settled a foot deeper into the mud and a young man had come alongside in a boat and was yelling at them:

"Say, you women, there's going to be a gale, and your craft will either be pounded to pieces here or driven out into the bay. Shall I set you ashore?"

"Yes! Yes! Yes! Yes!" from four voices.

"Ladies, let us do things in order," chided Mrs. Graham. "I call the meeting to order and present the following:

"Whereas, Perhaps the day of rejoicing for our sex has not yet arrived; and,

"Whereas, We have been mistaken in our deductions regarding men; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That we take advantage of the kind offer extended us and go ashore and go home. All in favor say ay."

Four years at once and a second later a fifth.

"How five women could be such idiots beats me!" growled the man as he set them ashore.

No meeting of the society was called to answer him. It had been dissolved. And when the five husbands at home heard of it they nudged each other and winked and grinned as hard as they could.

SEARCHED.

By HARRY VAN AMBUG.
[Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.]

"Donhoff!"
"In heaven's name, what is it?"
"The police!"

Donhoff sprang up and darted to a closet, seized a package of papers and threw them into the stove, watching a bright streak in its side--a crack--till the flame died out, when he turned to his friend, who had hurried in to warn him.

"Any one peached?" he asked quickly.

"Yes, Alex."

At that moment there was a step on the stairs. Donhoff turned pale, clapping his hand to his coat pocket at the same time. But he did not speak; there was no time. The door was thrown open, and an officer of police stepped into the apartment.

Donhoff had a letter in his pocket that he had forgotten. It was from the chief of his revolutionary society detailing a plan for the assassination of the minister of the interior. It had been written using assumed names, and some attempt had been made to disguise the different steps to be taken by using commonplace words and acts. Nevertheless in the hands of the police it would be interpreted without trouble.

But no finer display of nerve was ever given by a man. Donhoff faced the officer with well feigned surprise.

"Pardon me, sir," said the officer. "I am ordered to search your apartment."

"What for?"

"That is a matter which concerns the government."

"I have an enemy. Doubtless he has accused me. I desire that you should make a thorough search, that I may be vindicated and may punish him. I will aid you."

"In any event that will do you no harm."

"Here are my keys. I beg of you to open every drawer, look in every corner."

The officer took the keys and opened everything that was locked. He hunted through closets, desk, bookcases. Donhoff went about with him, assisted him and often called his attention to places that he had either overlooked or had not yet reached. When he had taken the books from a case and shaken them Donhoff seized one of the volumes and, turning over the leaves, took out a paper, handing it to the officer. The latter opened it, glanced over it and handed it back to the owner. Not a scrap of incriminating paper had been found, and the officer was beginning to tire of the work when Donhoff opened a drawer brim full of papers.

"Come," he said. "These must be looked over carefully. I don't wish you to go back to headquarters without being able to vindicate me entirely."

He handed each paper to the officer separately, opening it and insisting on its reading it. The officer read a few, glanced at others, and when he had finished the suspect opened another drawer equally voluminous. The officer began to tire of the work, but Donhoff insisted on his doing it thoroughly.

Then Donhoff began to rip up the carpet.

"Never mind that," said the searcher. "I am not instructed to tear things to pieces."

"But I do mind it. If a gentleman is to be treated as a felon he is at least entitled to have the work done thoroughly, that he may not have a second party to go through the effects."

So the officer was obliged to take hold and help get up the carpet. Of course nothing was found.

"That will do," said the tired man. "It only remains to--"

Donhoff knew very well that the sentence finished would be "search you."

He rushed to a closet and took down an old portmanteau in which there were more papers. The officer sighed and began to look them over.

"Hello!" exclaimed Donhoff. "There is a batch of business papers which I have long missed."

Selzing the papers, he opened every one of them, showed each to the officer, who looked at it per incuriam, and when he had seen all Donhoff asked if he objected to his putting them in his pocket. He received the necessary permission.

Donhoff dared not put the officer off any longer than his search of himself.

"Come, now!" he said. "I must insist on your going over me as thoroughly as you have examined my effects."

He began to disrobe.

"That isn't necessary," said the officer, almost angrily.

"Well, then, here, and here, and here."

He thrust his hand in his coat pocket where was the incriminating paper and in which he had put the papers from the portmanteau and, pulling out all together, began to open them under the officer's nose.

"I've seen those."

"So you have."

When Donhoff said this he was unfolding the letter that would have sent him to Siberia or death and, holding it for a moment so near the officer's eyes that he couldn't easily read it, he refolded it and thrust it back in his pocket. Then, turning all his other pockets wrong side out, he asked:

"Well, are you satisfied?"

The officer turned on his heel and went out without a word, indignant that the man he had been sent to search had annoyed him by insisting on so much attention.

When the door closed behind him Donhoff fell over in a faint.

THE WEATHER
For Eastern Florida, low water tonight or Tuesday; light variable winds.

Miss Mary French, after a successful day's pleasure trip with Mr. and Mrs.
C. G. Smith, returned to her home at Jacksonville Saturday afternoon.

An old fashioned residence who can afford the luxury of an automobile suggests that those who drive cars with engine seats should be the first to be applied to street repairs.

Thus, H. White went up to Daytona Beach Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday with his friend, J. E. White and family.
Mr. White joined his family Sunday evening and remained on the coast until Monday morning.

Miss Kuhn left for Cocoa, where she expects to remain Saturday and Sunday, and will be in Daytona on or before a week to seek her opportunities with her music class.
She has a class also of Photo-

E. A. White, who has a fall from a second story window two days ago, is said to be improving rapidly and will be free of pain when able, but he will be unable before he will be able to go about his usual activities. Miss Claude F. Miller, a nurse who has been here for several days and who recently came from New Orleans, Mr. and Mrs. and the Kuhns they are recovering very well now.

This afternoon, 2:47 from Spring field, Ohio, arrived the Lydia Rose and her latest issue of "Redwood Review," Mr. and Mrs. Claude F. Miller and H. T. Woods and friends. They came from New York on the Clyde line boat, Liverpool.

Joseph Johnson returned Friday night from Daytona, where he was a guest of Mr. and Mrs.
H. L. Ross and friends. They left New York Saturday.

John Johnson returned Friday night from Daytona, where he was a guest of Mr. and Mrs.

Miss McDonald, of Clay, Pa., arrived last night and stopped with Hartford and Mrs. H. L. Ross, at the particular residence of Mr. and Mrs.
H. L. Ross Saturday evening at the Beach house today. Mrs. and Miss
Johnson make a pleasant addition

NEARING COMPLETION.

The Thomas White handsome bungalow on Beach street, S. H. Gove, contractor is nearing completion. The plasterers have finished and the plumbers are at work. The furnace fire was started up Saturday morning for a try out. There are some unique features about the house, such as a window set in a mammoth chimney on the second floor. The interior is handsomely finished, and presents an idea of roominess in pleasing contrast to the modern small room house.
There is one up stairs room, 48x24, well lighted and aired by windows and glass front double doors, which has a beautiful outlook on the Hall-fax river. H. H. Strother is foreman of the work, and it is being pushed to as rapid completion as consistent with good workmanship.
